ABOUT THE JOURNALS

Youth Media Reporter is returning, revived and reimagined for a new generation. We're relaunching as a dynamic online journal—now hosted on Substack—dedicated to empowering educators and students with insights on media education, the learning or teaching about or with media.

The Media Education Journal is a sub-journal to The Media Education Lab--whose mission is to advance media literacy education through leadership development, scholarship, and community engagement. Media Education Journal, published on Substack, will focus on youth experiences with media in an educational setting.

WRITER

Key Responsibilities:

- Draft, edit, and publish short blog-style posts for the Youth Media Reporter Substack.
- Format and upload articles, ensuring clarity, readability, and alignment with the journal's mission.
- Collaborate with the editorial team to refine content and maintain consistency in tone and style.
- Curate multimedia elements (images, links, videos) to enhance articles.
- Support the publishing schedule and help coordinate with contributors.

Qualifications:

- Strong writing and editing skills; prior blogging, journalism, or media experience is a plus.
- Interest in media literacy, youth, and technology.
- Ability to work independently and manage time effectively in a remote environment.
- Familiarity with digital publishing tools (Substack or WordPress preferred, but not required).
- Creativity and openness to new formats and approaches.

COPY EDITOR

Key Responsibilities:

- Copy edit approximately 4-5 monthly articles for grammar, punctuation, spelling, clarity, consistency, etc.
- Verify factual accuracy where applicable.
- Collaborate effectively with authors and the editorial team to refine content.

Qualifications:

- Demonstrable experience in copy editing, proofreading, or a related editorial role.
- Attention to detail and a strong commitment to accuracy and consistency.
- Ability to work independently and manage time effectively in a remote environment.
- Interest in media literacy.
- Multilingual proficiency is highly valued, as we aim to publish articles in diverse languages.

FORMATTER

Key Responsibilities:

- Actively participate in the redesign of the Youth Media Reporter website on the WordPress platform (now).
- Format and lay out approximately 4-5 articles monthly (once we publish).
- Collaborate with the editorial team to implement visual elements that enhance article content

Qualifications:

- Demonstrable experience with WordPress.
- Strong understanding of web design principles and digital formatting for online publications.
- Ability to work independently and manage time effectively in a remote environment.
- Interest in media literacy.
- Portfolio or examples of previous web design, formatting, or graphic work are a plus

HOW TO PARTICIPATE
